

Thank you for starting your hearing journey with Can:Do Hearing.

By choosing us, a not for profit provider, you are directly supporting our charity partners Can:Do 4Kids and Deaf Can:Do help South Australian people who are blind, deaf or sensory impaired get the most out of life.

Can:Do Hearing is one of just a handful of independent audiology clinics, meaning we're not owned by a hearing aid manufacturer. As such we can provide un-biased advice, and offer one of the largest ranges of hearing aids and assistive listening devices in South Australia. Our services include hearing assessments for all ages, hearing aids, auditory processing disorder assessments for children six and older, workplace assessments, auditory rehabilitation and tinnitus management.

Can:Do 4Kids, Townsend House makes a difference to the lives of more than 300 children each year who are deaf, hearing impaired, blind or vision impaired. Our professional, experienced team provides support across South Australia at home, in schools, community centres and other education settings in addition to individual and group services. Your support of Can:Do Hearing means that Can:Do 4Kids can continue to provide support to children like Drake (pictured) who is living with Albinism.

Thank you!

Kind regards,

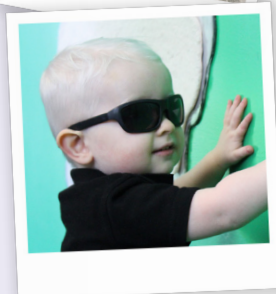

Heidi Limareff
Chief Executive

Hello, my name is Drake and I have Albinism

It was a big shock to my Mum and Dad, but they are doing a great job and have loads of support from Can:Do 4kids.

Because I was born with this condition, bright lights and sunlight hurt my eyes and I can't see as well as other kids, but I do have super cool white hair.

I am only 2 and don't know if I will be legally blind yet, but I know that people like you will ensure my family gets the support they need so I can learn to read, write, go to school and even get a job one day.
